PROPERTY VALUATIONS AND ADJUSTMENT FACTORS

What this means for Property Owners

Adjustment Factors are determined by the Valuer General and help keep property taxes fair by updating property values based on current market conditions instead of waiting six years for a full revaluation.

The Valuer-General sets these factors every year for land and every two years for annual property values. These updates reflect local market trends and are applied to all properties in an area. The factors are based on recent property sales and rental information.

Because of these adjustment factors, how much your rates have increased by will vary from property to property.
